FRENCH REPRESENTATION.

Our esteemed colleague Le Courrier de la Plata has published some interesting remarks on Consul Wagner's report to the French Government on the late Continental Exhibition held in this city. The report in question has drawn the attention of the Parisian journals, and much importance is attached to Mr Wagner's remarks on the trade relations between this country and France; but before criticising the opinions of the popular French Consul or dwelling on the remarks of our esteemed French colleague, it will interest our readers to know the figures of the trade of this country with France.

The foreign trade of Buenos Aires, which represents four-fifths of the entire trade of the Republic during 1882, was—

Imports	$48,000,000
Exports	41,000,000
	$89,000,000

England, France and Belgium represent the bulk of our foreign trade; with regard to imports these three countries stand as follows—

England	$16,000,000
France	14,000,000
Belgium	3,000,000

The bulk of our imports comes from England, exceeding those of France by over £1,000,000; but the figures of exports shew another ratio—

France	$14,000,000
Belgium	12,000,000
England	3,000,000

In the above figures France stands first and England last; taking the aggregate trade of the above countries with this Republic, we have—

France	$25,000,000
England	19,000,000
Belgium	15,000,000

France undoubtedly stands first in our commercial relations with the world, and the fact is little known in France, where there exists a very hazy idea of South America in general. Consul Wagner's report and the Courrier's remarks are no doubt based on the above figures when drawing attention to the importance of trade relations with France and to the increasing imports of French machinery into the country. The sugar machinery, exhibited by a great French firm, in the Plaza Once, affords some remarks with regard to the preference given same in this country. English manufacturers, it is stated, formerly monopolised the imports of sugar machinery in this country, but French competition has now controlled the market to the exclusion of the former. There is no denying the fact that French machinery has found much favor in the country; very many sugar manufacturers in Tucuman, Santiago, and other provinces have given orders to French houses, but it may well suit the purpose to inquire into the cause of this gradual change in the market. It arises from the very different line of conduct observed by the agents of English and French firms respectively. The French agent makes very many concessions, gives very long credit, and runs very many risks, which no agent of any English firm would accept. It must also be borne in mind that this line of policy has occasioned a great ingress of French machinery, but at the same time we must not overlook the losses which the French firms have sustained in this risky enterprise.

In the long run the English system of business in this line must prevail, since French manufacturers will be unable to carry on business as they have done up to the present. In some cases French firms have been obliged to put up splendid machinery free, gratis, for nothing, because some clause in the contract had not been fulfilled. This happened with one of the sugar Kings of Tucuman, who had French machinery put up gratis, because the remittance of the machinery was delayed and the sugar plantations of the owner were lost in consequence. The risks incurred by the liberal policy of the French cannot continue, much less so now when a fierce competition is springing up in the sugar line. "Le jeu ne vaut pas la chandelle."

We have carefully avoided drawing any comparism between the respective merits of French and English machinery; the latter is beyond any insidious criticism, and we will give the former the full benefit of efficiency and unsurpassed finish. The falling-off in the imports of sugar machinery we simply ascribe to the policy of the agents; already people remark a decided reaction, and of late important orders have been given to English agents for the supply of machinery in Salta where sugar has a great future.

Mr Wagner very properly remarks that France, of all other European nations, figured foremost in the late exhibition, and French manufacturers deserve much credit for the efforts with which they strive to make an opening in this market. One of the most important features of this able report is the foresight with which Mr Wagner refers to an embryonic industry destined to become a great factor in the advance of the country. He points to the development of the silk industry in several parts of the country; before many years elapse the thousands of Italians who settle yearly in the province of Santa Fe, will make this young industry one of the most profitable and most important of the Republic. French manufacturers would do well to study the echo and peruse the pages of a report the ability of which finds its best corroboration in the remarks of the Paris journals. There are one hundred thousand Frenchmen in this country; French is spoken in many of our streets, and the accents are as familiar here as on the boulevard; you find the Frenchman on the Rio Negro, in the Chaco, everywhere; he is irrepressible, but he is not gregarious as the Italian. France has quite a colony dispersed in the Argentine Republic and the members of same are all industrious and thriving; it is mainly due to their industry that France secures the first place amongst countries trading with this republic.

THE WESTERN CAMPS.

To the Editor of the Standard,

Sir,

Sufficiently posted in camp South and North of this province, curiosity, with an eye to business, prompted me to have a run out to the Western camps of which I now offer you a sketch, to publish, if you think of interest.

During my occasional visits to this city I had heard so much boasting of those camps as superior to all others, (from interested parties whose camp observation must necessarily be limited) that I started somewhat sceptical as to our opinions coinciding.

There was a clever smattering of land lore and prediction about these absent landlords, that flavoured highly of a "rise" to be taken out of somebody. It must be acknowledged that, however much I then underrated their statements, I now admit that in the main they are right, and to a greater extent than they themselves are probably aware, especially as regards the 17th and 18th Sections of this Province.

They rushed in at a period when old and experienced heads refused, and proudly may they claim the title of Pioneers of the West.

It is useless to reproduce the present melancholy picture of camps between the metropolis and Mercedes, known to all your readers; suffice to add that between the latter town and Chivilcoy a little better condition is apparent with an increased improvement to Bragado, where I took my 'tropilla' and guides. We followed the diligence road to Lincoln, passing land which by process of stocking, is somewhat refined. The lagunas I noted, are in nearly every instance salt, and hereabouts there are both good and bad patches; but taking the very best I cannot find value at the high prices now ruling.

On the whole one feels great disappointment. From Lincoln to Lavalle camp is more or less the same as preceding, with moreover tracts of low 'pajonal' land, difficult to refine. There is apparently less 'poblacion,' although from time to time the usual fine grasses are met with, improving under stocks. From Lavalle to Fortin Media Luna the aspect changes.

As if by the magic of an enchanter's wand, estancia on estancia homestead rises to the view, and it were no easy task to find a parallel to the vast verdant landscape which at length greets the eye. No signs of drought there, nor likely to be. Look at the magnificent condition of both cattle and sheep, on all sides! This is on Arias's camp, and the same may be stated of Newbery's.

Gaining a slight eminence on the road and looking both behind and far ahead, the road teems with troops of bullock carts, laden with wire, posts, building material and house supplies. All going West! Here at least the future is no unsolved problem. These slow and sluggish carts, are active principles, attesting a prodigious revolution these regions are rapidly undergoing.

From Fortin Media Luna I started in a south-westerly direction, crossing Newbery's fine estancia. This is good valuable land if you like, with a brand new house, quinta, galpon and all estancia requisites. Fencing is actively in course of construction, and there is an unmistakeably go-a-head look about the premises. I noted the stock was in first class form around the laguna, "El Toro," which bathes alike Newbery's and Smithers' camps. Thence I crossed the properties of Chute, Smithers, and Brown. These are decidedly the best camps I had, so far seen West. From Media Luna S.W. good mixed grasses abound, but what particularly struck me was, the increased quantity of 'gramilla' in the 17th Section. I then crossed the N.W. of the 17th, through Manteron's camp into the 18th Section, traversing the Belgian Company's land, purchased, if I mistake not, through Mr. Cadmus and Mr Runciman, and a very fine property it is. The improvement in grasses is still more decided in the 18th than in the 17th Section. Following a N.W. direction we entered the Reservado (of the 18th Section), a beautiful piece of land; crossing an old Indian track, plainly visible, I then followed the 35th parallel, about 1 league to the South of it going through Chute's camp which has on it a large fresh water laguna. There was endless quantity of game round it and I had a successful shot at some deer. There is, in fact, no limit to sport in these parts. This camp is free from all coarse, grasses and what particularly arrested my attention was the preponderance of the several varieties of grumilla. I should say fully in the proportion of three quarters to one quarter of other fine grasses.

It is a glorious sight to gaze over these fine lands in the 18th Section, doubtless the best in the West, rolling in emerald waves so fresh from the hand of nature, so rich, so fertile and in their solemn grandeur eloquently appealing to the settler as a promised land 'flowing with milk and honey'!

Never in the whole course of a long experience has my eye roamed over such a pastoral vision, or dwelt on a tract of land so free from waste! The main feature of its excellence is uniformity and entire freedom from strong grasses and 'pajonales.' There constantly occur fine 'cañadones' some of which I estimate at a league in length. No rain of importance had fallen for months yet the grasses held green and fresh, owing no doubt to water so closely underlying the surface: at less than 2 varas water was everywhere obtainable.

Continuing westerly I crossed, Guerrico's lot and rode through that strip of land touching the 5th Meridian and forming the Western boundary of the 18th Section.

This is the land which last June, fetched the colossal price of 270,000 dollars per league and was bought by Dr Webster, Mr Hall and Mr Manigot. How well I remember the verdict of those professional and mercantile land dealers in this city; their opinion being that said purchasers were off their nuts and would never in their lifetime rebehold their money. I can safely declare the land to be worth every dollar paid for it, and as communication further develops westward by road or what is now imminent by rail, investors (some probably who stood aloof at the auction) will seek these lands and pay holders what they ask. My remarks on these lands apply as far S. as Fortin Roca, thence I struck out N. E. through Escaladas, Chutes, Lawries lots till reaching Bunges grand estancia. Here I saw some 10,000 sheep, several thousand head of cattle and 2500 more are to go on next month. This establishment is a model and very complete; counting on elements which necessarily lead to success. At this point, only 2 and 2½ leagues from the 18th Section, is the terminus of the Diligence line from Bragado.

The road is as level as if designed by Mac Adam himself, and in a little over 2 days we are again in Bragado. Yet to think that in the course of another year or little more the distance between Buenos Aires and the camps described will be accomplished in a day's journey. In conclusion I recommend everyone who purposes renting advantageously or making a good investment to run out and look at these Western camps.

They are easy of access, the several estancieros round there are very hospitable, there is no difficulty in obtaining guides and horses, and one thing above all the 'partido' is free of danger; crime being unknown and raids relegated to the past.

No Indians! perennial grass! Surely this sums up a golden future for these outside lands.

Your obedient servant

Veritas.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

January 18th.

Prince Napoleon has made a Jack in the Box apparition. He has been popularly accused of want of courage, and to this defect he now adds that of impudence, by publishing a proclamation to his fellow-citizens that the Republic is going to the dogs, and only the restoration of the Empire, with all its antecedents and souvenirs could save France. At first the public viewed the poster as a "mystification," one of the numerous shaves that practical jokers indulge in. However, when the public had to believe their eyes a feeling of curiosity, rather than indignation, reigned. The Prince, with all his faults, has the reputation of being an intelligent man. What, then, could be the nature of the blunder, for the document is not a whit more virulent against the Constitution and the authorities than what can be found twice a day in any opposition journal?

It was a stage secret that the Comte de Chambord intended publishing an address to the nation, to his loving subjects, in a day or so; hence, why Prince Napoleon desired to take the wind out of his sails, and while he has succeeded beyond question in that easy task, he has not secured favouring gales for his own. The death of Gambetta suggested that no time was to be lost in making a bold stroke for the Crown. France has experienced another "Day of Dupes."

In the diatribe, rather than proclamation, the Prince expresses many hard and true remarks against the Republic. No one expected he would prove the honest chronicler Griffith, and detail the good effected since 1870 by the present "régime," sanctioned as it has been by successive general and partial elections, which are the best of plebiscites. But what does all this amount to? The Prince cannot, or rather dare not, indicate a remedy. By what means can any Pretender realize his hopes? What can Prince Napoleon do to seize the sceptre broken at Sedan? What can the Comte de Chambord do, to remount, after 52 years of exile, the throne of his fathers? The Prince has not, as the First Napoleon, the strength of an entire army at his disposal, and the "prestige" of the campaigns of Italy and Egypt; nor as the Third, elevated to the Presidency of the Republic by five millions of votes, and supreme chief of the civil and military administration of the country. Lacking these advantages, the Prince has not a name to conjure with, so an 18 Brumaire or a 2d of December becomes impossible.

If the Comte de Chambord could even organise an insurrection in La Vendè, or count, like Louis XVIII., on a European coalition, he might attempt a restoration. But neither Napoleon nor Bourbon possesses the means to succeed. They have some personal friends, some devoted adherents, but no following. They have a staff, but no soldiers.

It is not creditable to the Republicans that they should lose their heads in presence of the paper pellet of Prince Napoleon, and act as if Cæsar or Cataline were at the gates of Rome. A political poster on a wall is not worse than the same in a journal, and the Republic is now as accustomed to abuse as eels to be skinned. It would be wiser to allow all men to speak out and not resort to exceptional laws, to decrees of banishment that only benefit the exiled and feather the nests of conspirators. It is said an act of virility was necessary to prove that the Republic was not interred with Gambetta, and that having prosecuted the anarchists at Lyons, a Napoleon must be taught to respect the law as well as a Krapotkine.

The Senate will hardly ratify the hasty resolution of the Chamber of Deputies to banish the descendants of all Monarchs who ruled in France. Though suspected of scheming, to order the Duc d'Aumale, his brothers and his nephews, to return to Twickenham, would not be well received, and yet it is on the Orleanist Princes that the decree of banishment would tell most severely, as if the Republic went under, from its own blunders, their family has the best chance of coming to the front.

Prince Napoleon certainly did not expect to be arrested. He is lodged in the Conciérgerie, in the cell too where his cousin, Prince Pierre, was incarcerated twelve years ago, day for day, for shooting Victor Noir. The Prince's papers were seized, and letters of a compromising character were found, especially from Emile Ollivier. His apartments, in the Avenue d'Antin, are furnished with extreme taste, where military trophies largely predominate, and to study the life and writings of "Mon Oncle" formed the chief occupation of the Prince.

M. Duclerc has not set the Seine on fire by his statement respecting Egypt. It was a solemn announcement that France would remain with folded arms. He was not quite correct in stating France would resume her liberty of action; it has been forced upon her that which is not exactly the same thing. The assurance that the Government would guard the interests, &c., of the country on the Nile is so much fireworks, as no one can see how that is to be done. The fact is, the French are very vexed at England's stepping in and occupying the place abdicated by France.

To say the least, it is cool to expect England to take charge of the interests of France, to expend money and men to uphold them, when the Chamber of Deputies solemnly voted they were not worth being defended. Irritation too is felt at England doing all in the name of the Khedive, just as in Tunisia, France cloaks her disinterestedness in the name of the Bey. The Dual Control as a temporary experiment, but now happily as dead as a door-nail, did good, but it demonstrated also how potent the arrangement was for French officials to scheme England out of Egypt.

Now, for her paramount interests in the Canal, England must predominate in Egypt, and while affording to all the nations of the world an impartial transit for their merchant ships across the Isthmus, she can hardly be expected to afford similar accommodation to the Russian navy for example, in case she was at war with holy Russia. To complete the importance of the Canal, it is considered here that a railway from Alexandretta, Bombay-wards, is a necessity consequent on the Russian railroad advance to Persia. France having decreed herself out of Egypt, and blaming England for reaping the fruits of her blunder, now turns her smiles towards Russia. Bismarck watches that flirtation.

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

ALLEGED ASSASSINATION PLOT IN DUBLIN.

POLICE RAIDS AND WHOLESALE ARRESTS.

The detective police made a large number of arrests in various quarters of Dublin on Satrday morning. From about 12.30 to near 3 o'clock, batches of prisoners were being brought in at several stations. The prisoners belong principally to the artisan class, and some of them were possessed of revolvers of a large size and superior make. The arrests were made on a preconcerted plan, and simultaneously, in all parts of the city. Almost all the detectives were engaged in the operation, assisted by the ordinary police, and unusually large numbers of marines were scattered about the streets, doubtless to support them if necessary.. It is stated that the arrests were made in consequence of secret information that last week a number of persons belonging to a secret society held a special meeting in Dublin at which it was resolved to assassinate certain of the more active members of the Dublin police force.

On Saturday, at 20 minutes past one o'clock, the prisoners were brought before Mr Woodlock and Mr Keys, Q. C., two of the divisional magistrates sitting in the northern divisional police court. Great interest was manifested in the proceedings, but owing to the arrangements made by the police only a few persons were allowed to enter the court. The names of the prisoners are Joseph Mullett, aged 33, 6, Temple-cottages, clerk; Joseph Brady, aged 22, 23, North Anne-st., stonecutter; Thomas Martin, aged 23, 1, St. John's-terrace, Fontenoy-street, compositor; Robert Farrell, aged 28, 12, Kennedy's-lane, vanman; Daniel Delany, aged 28, 41, Lower Clanbrassil-street, house carpenter; Timothy Kelly, aged 20, 12, Richmond-hill, coach builder; William Moroney, aged 43, 19, Bride-street, shoemaker; Edward M'Caffery, aged 18, 21, Peter-street, vanman; Henry Rowles, aged 43, 11, Fishamble-street, tailor; James Mullett, aged 30, 12, Lower Bride-street, publican; James Carey, 40, 191, Dorville-street, builder; Joseph Hanlon, aged 20, 29, Lower Camden-street, carpenter; John Dwyer, aged 20, 6, Chatham-street, tailor; Peter Doyle, aged 36, 14, Wexford-street, builder; Peter Casey, aged 30, 71, South Gloucester-street, messenger, Mr Anderson, Crown solicitor, and Mr Bolton appeared for the Crown.

The charge against the prisoners is "that they, together with certain other evil disposed persons, did conspire, confederate, and agree to murder certain public officers of the Government, and others."

Mr Bolton said: In this case, in which several persons stand charged with the very serious offence of conspiring to murder different Government officials and other persons, I am instructed to apply that they be remanded. They were only arrested in the course of last night or rather this morning, and I make the application on the information of Joseph Warmington, acting inspector; James Donohoe, constable; Luke Gibbon, constable; and John Dowd, sergeant. In the informations, which are prepared and are ready to be sworn, it is stated that the several parties are each named in the different warrants which I now produce, which were issued for their arrest. It is also stated that there are other parties charged with the same offence, against whom warrants have also been issued, but which have not yet been executed. The warrants in point of fact, were only issued last night, and the information states what must be apparent to your worships; but it would not be in the interest of public justice to proceed and offer evidence against these parties until the others who are not yet arrested are made amenable. Upon these grounds I have respectfully to ask that these cases be remanded in the usual course.

Application on behalf of several of the accused was made that they be let out on bail; but the applications were in every case refused, and the prisoners, who were remanded for a week, were then removed to the cell below the court, and subsequently under a heavy escort of police were removed to Richmond Prison.

MOTIVE OF THE RAID.

Though the authorities deny that this raid is the result of the investigation held by Mr. Curran at the Castle into the Park murders and the attempted assassination of Mr. Field, the city special juror, there is a strong feeling that the denial is erroneous. Nearly every man placed in the dock was subjected to a stiff cross-examination by Mr. Curran at his inquiry. It is stated that this examination was directed to gain evidence corroborating what particulars the police had as regards the outrages. In more than three instances it is said that the witnesses refused or were not allowed to sign their information. They complain bitterly of having being subjected to what they designate a most uncalled for cross-examination. The inquiry lasted six weeks, and it is reported that one witness fainted. The police, it is said, have obtained five men to give evidence as informers on the charge of conspiracy to murder.

THE TWO PRINCIPAL PRISONERS.

Mr. Carey, T.C., who is now in custody, was arrested under the expired Coercion Act for being reasonably suspected of being concerned in the murder of Kenny, in Amiens-street. Kenny, it will be remembered, was shot through the head, and also stabbed. Carey was in prison for about three months, and was discharged when Mr. Forster's Peace Act expired. When arrested on the first occasion he resisted. That evening his house was searched, and nothing compromising was discovered. While in jail for about a month, his premises and adjoining places were again searched, and four dagger knives, supposed to be those with which Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke were murdered, were found. During Carey's incarceration he discharged a rocket out of Kilmainham prison yard, and was subjected to solitary confinement. Some time after his release he was proposed as a candidate for the Trinity Ward, which was represented by a Catholic Liberal, and, to the astonishment of all, Carey was returned by an overwhelming majority. He has been four months in the Corporation. He is a member of the Home Manufacturers' Association, at a meeting of which some few weeks ago he proposed, while presiding, a resolution condemning the attempted assassination of Mr. Field and the shooting of the detective. He strongly denounced the outrage upon Mr. Field; but a member of the association objecting to the resolution, Carey stated that, as one member objected to the standing orders being suspended so that the resolution might pass, the matter fell through. The other chief prisoner is Mullet, a publican. He was also in jail under the recent Corecion Act, being supposed by the Crown to have been concerned in a murder. The police searched all their houses and found a number of documents but none of a compromising character. They also found some revolvers.

It is stated that the knives found, which are alleged to be connected with the Phœnix Park murders, fit into the cuts in the clothes of the late Secretary. Marks of blood, it is also said, were found upon the knives, which, as already stated some time ago, were purchased in the Strand, London. A report states that some men at present undergoing imprisonment for threatening Mrs. Kenny, the wife of the man who was shot and stabbed to death some time after the Park murders, are to be produced as evidence against the prisoners now in custody. The public-houses recently searched in the city are all in the localities from which the 13 men were arrested. Much excitement prevailed through Dublin on Saturday, but no disturbance occurred. It may be added that the police also attach importance to the discovery of the person or persons who, it is alleged, purchased in London the revolver which Delany had when he attempted the life of Judge Lawson.

Hopes are entertained that some convictions may be gained as to the conspiracy to murder, but for the Phœnix Park tragedy it is said that convictions will never be gained. The authorities are, there is no doubt, in a position at present to put forward witnesses to show that an assassination committee existed in the city, at which persons were tried: that men at such meetings spoke in favour of their assassination, while others spoke against it; and that frequently the matter was left to a vote. This will, of course, be proved by abettors; but, while considering that it is to be remembered that Bailey, who in a drunken state gave information of ammunition in a certain house in Dublin, which was seized, though no conviction was the result, three days or so after he left police protection was shot dead an hour after midnight in one of the Dublin streets. His wife and some relatives were suspected of giving information, and one night the police entered an empty house which adjoined her residence and found a plot to blow up her place. She a few weeks afterwards was sent by the Government to Australia. Nagle, one of the principal informers in the Fenian movement, three years after the agitation had closed, was stabbed to death in the streets of London, and an inquest held upon him. He was buried under the name of Murphy, and it was not for four months that the London and Dublin police found out who deceased was. This discovery was then made by his pension from the Secret Service Fund not being realised, and by the letters addressed to him in the name of Murphy being sent back to Dublin Castle. Nagle assumed the Name of Murphy in London, and was a rate collector in one of the London suburbs. Under these circumstances the probalities of informers are very doubtful.

PARIS BY NIGHT.

The boulevards, though always animated, do not assume their most fashionable and—to use the word in a restricted but easily understood sense—gayest aspect until towards eleven. From that hour till past midnight the new arrivals in cafés and restaurants belong almost exclusively to the world qui s'amuse. White cravats, varnished boots, silks, satins, furs, and velvets make their appearance. Loungers from the theatres, gossips from the clubs, diners out—who one and all have been more or less bored, chiefly by their own restlessness and love of change even from better to worse—return to their usual nightly haunt in quest of that sameliness of scandal-mongering, backbiting, and persiflage, which they mistake for variety. The "esprit du boulevard" is, in fact, essentially ill-natured, as any one in the habit of perusing one of the three or four papers which reflect it with accuracy can easily convince himself. To suppose, as many do, that Gallic gaiety has its cradle or even a refuge there is an error. Nearly every arrow shot has a poisoned tip. A point at least in favour of the new "world" which thus settles down on the asphalte is its youth. Old stagers of both sexes there certainly are, familiar faces to which every 'habitué' has been able to tack a name any day these ten years back, but the majority are a fresh generation of golden youth from the provinces or abroad, who are 'doing' Paris as their fathers and grandfathers probably 'did' it before them, though under conditions that have a greater smack of vulgarity. The wealthy 'parvenu,' without education or good breeding, finds it easier to cut a figure in Paris at the present day, to attach to his steps a little coterie of toadies, and to have his movements, even his dress, chronicled in the Gazettes of boulevard fashion, than he would have done a dozen years ago. If he makes a lavish display of his money, starts a stylish equipage, and subsidises a fashionable woman, it is ten to one he will soon be included in the ranks of the 'gratin,' the newest word for what was last known as 'gomme,' and to which, in its present garish phase, an Englishman might be tempted to apply the uncomplimentary name of puppyism.

When the theatres shut their doors, that is to say about 12, the ranks of this galaxy of frivolity and pleasure-seeking become closed up. Their haunts scarcely vary winter and summer; the only difference being that when the weather becomes too chilly for perching on the chairs before the cafés, the birds of passage, that is to say, those who do not intend 'making a night of it,' take refuge inside. For the latter, the wax candles in the 'cabinets particuliers' are lighted, expensive suppers are served, and kings begin to be turned in rapid succession; for, notwithstanding the increase of gambling clubs all round the Opera-house, access to which is only too easy, cardplaying for heavy stakes is carried on every night in the private rooms of all fashionable restaurants, play having of late become the ruling passion in "gay" Paris. The time is past, however, when the authentic 'grand seigneur' spent his nights in the cabinets of the Maison Dorée or of the Café Anglais, and consequently in the latter famous establishment lights are now never to be seen after eleven; it is no longer a supper house; while the former is in this respect only a shadow of its former self. "New Bignen's," as it is called, in the Avenue de l'Opéra, "Old" Bignon's, at the corner of the Chaussée d'Antin, and the well known Café de la Paix—the last has been in great vogue for a couple of seasons—are the most frequented. Since the closing hour has been extended to 2 a.m., nearly every restaurant on or near the boulevards may be said to be a supper house, and Torton's, the Café Riche, Durand's (opposite the Madeleine), and old Voisin's are all excellent, but they are not fashionable; the gratin certainly eschews them, indeed it is at the Café de la Paix that this section of noctambules has set up its head-quarters. It is there, consequently, that night life in Paris at present receives its most expressive illustration. Bignon's, whether 'old' or 'new,' is quiet in comparison, though their patrons are more select; and few nights pass when an illustrious visitor to Paris, a grand duke or other foreign prince, in not to be found enjoying a transparent incognito in one of their cabinets.

Decorum of the best-bred order is never violated in this thoroughly artificial world which turns night into day on the aristocratic boulevards. When we wander into more remote and Bohemian quarters the fun will be faster and more furious, more vulgar, in fact; but the 'gratin' is, above all, 'comme il faut,' 'correct' in manners, if not in morals. The latter are certainly not straitlaced, but there is no hypocrisy; on the contrary, a tendency to placard down there that the highest compliment one man can pay another is to say "You're a brick," as it means that he is worth his weight in gold.

The Union Francaise, in a very able leader, destroys, with master-hand, the popular delusion that the "Gaucho" is the best horseman in the world, the truth being that he is one of the very worst. The Arab and the Tartar are the "boss" horsemen."

We read with much pleasure a decree of the Foreign Office in Montevideo, granting the exequatur as Her Majesty's Vice-Consul in Paysandu to Mr. John Chaplain, who is so well and favourably known on both sides of the river.

We have a letter from home foz Everett Everett, Esq., whose friends are anxious to hear about him.

The meeting of the Providencia Society, postponed from the 16th inst., will take place on Sunday next at Alsina, 307.

The "jovenes" element of society is getting insufferable. A number of "gents" of this description got up a row in the train to Quilmes the other evening and caused great alarm and annoyance to the respectable passengers.

Why don't our agriculturists go in for hop-growing? Are there no men of Kent in the Plate to show the way? John Chinaman is now going into the hop line in the United States. The San Francisco correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says: "As an instance of Chinese foresight it is observed that, though they have hitherto been the principal hired hop-pickers in many places, this year they have turned hop culturists, having foreseen the coming rise in price."

We find the following ingenuous advertizement in the home papers:—"Occupation for Gentlemen's sons on selected Farms, in the healthiest districts of the United States or Canada, where they will be entirely self-supporting, receive regular pay from the first, and be practically taught by experienced farmers so as to be able to start successfully for themselves; premium £50 to £80; no annual or other charge; references, pamphlets, and full particulars post free. Address Ford, Rathbone and Walter, 21, Finsbury Pavement, E.C.; agents in Manchester, Swan and Leach, 1 and 3, Princess-street.

When the Franco-Prussian war was begun, Germany had no war vessels of any account afloat. She now owns one monitor, seven iron-clad frigates, five iron-clad corvets, eleven armor-plated gunboats, nineteen unarmored corvets, eleven unarmored gunboats, fifteen torpedo-boats, eight coastguard vessels, ten training ships and eighteen vessels for harbor service. Nearly all the men-of-war are of the newest design, carrying tremendous artillery and steam at a high rate of speed.

Another push is being made to get the large pumping machines to work, to increase the supply of pipe water. Perhaps Mr. Dawney, or some other competent hydraulic engineer, will warn the authorities of the danger of too much water without adequate means for carrying it off when used.

Our readers must be panting, like the tired hart for water, for news of Oscar Wilde, the Mahomet of Aestheticism. Here is the very latest about the interesting idiot:—"Mr. Oscar Wilde arrived in London on Saturday afternoon, characteristically and cyclonically conveyed across the Atlantic on board of the Bothnia. So rough was the passage that not only was the steering-gear, on one fatal night, fatally devoid of artistic merit, but upon his arrival at Liverpool, Oscar was bound to admit, to the eager interviewer, that his previous criticism on the Atlantic was "possibly somewhat harsh." His American pilgrimage has been a success, both financially and artistically. From Park-street he goes straight to Paris, where he means to work out some new and startling notions of a literary, and possibly dramatic, character. His impressions concerning America generally are paradoxical, puzzling, and, as yet, unpublished. but they are said to be original and graphic. He goes back to America in the "fall," then to Australia, and ultimately to heaven."

We received the following note yesterday:—

"RAILWAYS.

"21st Feb., 1883.

"The note in to-day's Standard, stating that the Railway from St. Petersburg to Moscow is the oldest in Russia, is incorrect. The Railway from St. Petersburg to Tsarskoseloe was constructed and working some years previous to the Moscow line being commenced.

"Can you give your readers some information relative to the very narrow-gauge line proposed to be constructed to Cañuelas and Monte for the extraordinary low cost of 4,000 fuertes per kilometre?

"Yours truly,

"J. H."

An amusing incident is reported from Madras. Mr. Spring Branson, barrister-at-law, who has hitherto worn a very fine beard, appeared in court one morning cleanly shaved, and rose to move the court to take an insolvent out of jail. Mr. Justice Kerman looked at the learned gentlemen very hard, and then, with a smile, remarked that he had made a very barefaced motion. The court was in roars of laughter. A local paper reminds the learned judge that "Patience" is in active rehearsal by the Dramatic Society, and rumour has it that an alarming sacrifice of beards is to take place among gentlemen qualifying to be heavy dragoons. Such is the enthusiasm for the drama in Madras!

SCANDALOUS STATE OF MUNICIPAL ADMINISTRATION CONCERNING THE BARRACAS DISTILLERIES.

To the Editor of the Standard.

Sir,

It is a great shame, and one that cries to Heaven about what is doing, or not doing, by our well-established Municipality in this civilised city. Instead of watching over the public health and welfare, and abolishing nuisances, they allow things to go on as they do, and even some eminent members of this honourable Corporation find it their interest to continue so great an abuse as the conducting of the "residue" of the Barracas distilleries right to the Riachuelo, thus causing a complete state of putrefaction of the water which evaporates day and night, causing pestiferous smells which threaten pestilence to the inhabitants of the surrounding district.

Those above-mentioned High Life gentlemen, members of the so-called Municipality, are hereby invited to come once down to Barracas and pass 24 hours alongside the Riachuelo shore, just to take the smell of these systematically putrefied waters. Then they would soon be seen covering their respective noses, so as to avoid fainting from the fatal perfume. If, then, they will never look at the many notes and papers directed to them, or listen to the urgent verbal claims and cries to repair this badly-managed distillery nuisance, we will, at least, have the satisfaction of having shewn to them the real state of affairs—how in this country, and especially in the city of Buenos Ayres, which claims the name of the Paris of the Plate, the authorities are allowed to do what they like, making the honest man of conscience a dead figure, who, seeing his useless and impotent efforts for doing the right thing in the right way, retires indignantly from his post, leaving the others to mind their own interests at the cost of the public welfare.

Several Residents of Barracas.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The full moon yesterday did not bring the much-wanted rain; but there was a north wind and a cloudy sky (splendid fishing day!) and the buckets will probably come down to-day or to-morrow. In Cordoba they have had a sharp down-pour and the camps up there are saved. The dust and rain at 5 p.m. yesterday were not even a circumstance.

AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral

Well-known all over the world for the prompt cure of the following diseases:

Coughs, Colds, Catarrhs, Inflammation of the Lungs, Bronchitis and Incipient Consumption, and also for the relief of those suffering from Chronic Consumption even in its Most Advanced Stage.

In the various affections of the Throat and Lungs, its employment in the first stage is always sure to arrest the disease, which makes Dr. AYER'S Cherry Pectoral a most desirable medicine to have always at hand. Those who have used this medicine knowing well its efficacy, declare they are never without it at home and never fail to recommend it to their friends suffering from any of the above diseases.

Medical men who know well the formula by which it is compounded, and the beneficial effects from its employment, never fail to prescribe Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It is also frequently recommended by those of the Clergy who have used it. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is also remarkable in its Sanatory effects, arresting as it is sure to do, the ravages of epidemic affections of the Throat and Lungs, thus making it the most efficacious medicine which can be employed.

The Rev. Mr. Smith

Testimonial Fund.

At the General Meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Buenos Ayres, held on the 31st January, 1883, attention was called to the near approach of the time when the Rev. James Smith's official connection with the Church and people of Buenos Ayres would cease. The propriety of some manifestation being made by the Community on this occasion, to mark its appreciation of a life's work, having been mooted and unanimously recognised, it was resolved that such manifestation should assume the form of a pecuniary gift to the Rev. Gentleman, and a Committee was at the same time nominated with the view of carrying such resolution into effect.

In pursuance of this resolution, the Committee beg to inform the Community who sympathise with them in the matter, that Subscription Lists for signature will be found at the undermentioned places.

Other Lists will be forwarded to some of the outlying districts of Buenos Ayres and the Oriental Republic. Members residing at a distance, desirous of taking part in this manifestation, and who may not have access to any of these List-sheets, can obtain them upon application to the Honorary Secretary, David Methven jun., Calle Reconquista 89, who will also be ready to receive any particular subscription towards the same object up to March 15th, prox.

Accidents.

The importance of using only good kerosene cannot be too highly appreciated; witness the terrible accidents lately, such as the deaths of Mr Levey in this city, and Mr Dean in Navarro, and the great fire at the corner of Chacabuco and Europa, all caused by the bursting of lamps charged with inferior kerosene.

In the United States the sale of kerosene under 115° is severely punished, and in every country where the interests of the public are cared for, laws have been enacted regulating the quality of oil to be offered to the public.

Yellow kerosene is always impure and the strong-smelling stuff in general use here would be found under 100° if analysed; it is needless to add it is highly dangerous.

The only way to be perfectly safe is to use Kerosene 'Luxor,' guaranteed 140° fire test; it is white, entirely free from any disagreeable odour, gives twice the light, lasts one third longer, and is consequently as cheap as any kerosene in this market.

If through using a bad article when he can get a good one just as cheap, a man meets with an accident, he is scarcely to be pitied.

National Bank Shares....	105½

All the interest of the market is centred in to-morrow's election of Directors of the National Bank. No former election ever occasioned such very intense excitement; the prospects of each of the aspiring candidates are carefully calculated and weighed in the speculation at the ring. There is already a spirit of dissatisfaction rampant amongst some who see that the hopes of their candidates are a fond illusion, and a newspaper this morning gave full expression to this feeling of discontent. Amongst the very many wild and ludicrous rumors set afloat is one worthy of notice. It bears on the tactics observed to carry votes; according to this breezy rumor ten clerks of the Ciudad de Londres have been enrolled as shareholders of the National Bank, with, say, 50 shares each. It matters little whether the rumor be true or not, since tactics of this nature are familiar to every electioneering table in America, but the fact stands that the election of the two new Directors is occupying all the attention of the market.

The names which we published yesterday in this column are those which meet with the wide support of the market, and all hope to see them carry the day, as is generally anticipated. Both gentlemen are well-known in the hall and enjoy an enviable reputation of high standing. Their presence on the Board would be welcomed as a fresh start in the development of the Bank and as a further guarantee of good management and of harmony of purpose on the Board. The shareholders of the National Bank expect much from the new elements that enter the Board; they wish to see the Bank on a perfectly sound footing, and in as enviable a position as that of the London or Italian or other private banks. The shareholders have perfect confidence in the management and expect to see the Bank assume the mantle of the Provincial Bank in the interior of the Republic, as it is the Bank of the country and of the Government.

The representative of Mr. Franken in this city will soon leave for Europe. Much as the market deplores the failure of the arrangement, it must be acknowledged that the Bank could not give in to the pretensions of the Paris bankers, who, aside from other demands, wished the loan to be classified as a foreign one and displayed from the beginning a decided unwillingness to enter on any arrangement under the conditions of the contract.

Outsiders entered the share market this morning and bought heavily for the end of month. This sustained the market, and the rates of the stock ruled very firm. Those purchases answer the hopes of several parties to see one of their friends on the Board of Directors. Only 20 shares were sold cash at 105½; speculation for the end of the month, meantime, embraced 2,000 shares; rates opened at 105½, rose to 106, and closed at 105½. Close on 1,000 shares were sold for the end of next month—400 ex dividend at 102 and 102½, and 500 cum dividend at 107½ and 107. About 3,000 shares were sold during official hours.

The Cedula market ruled very firm to-day. Forty thousand Series A changed hands at 100¼. Operations in Series E ruled very active. About 70,000 changed hands for cash at prices ranging between 84½ and 85; the market closed at 84½. Thirty five thousand were sold for the end of the month at 85, and 10,000 for the end of next month at 85½. Twenty thousand were sold for the end of April at 85½, and 45,000 for the end of May at 85½ and 86. The Mortgage Bank is issuing very little Series E, which may account for the growing firmness of the market. Dr. Paulino Llambi Campbell, it is expected, will arrive in Europe to-morrow. The market rules very active and over 200,000 Cedulas were sold to-day during official hours.

The gold market shews no change. Very few operations are reported and quotations are unaltered. Discounts present the usual features—7 o/o for first-class paper and 6½ o/o for gold. The Provincial Bank discounted yesterday 4½ millions only and the National Bank $100,000. Applications at both Banks continue to be numerous in view of the reserved policy of the private banks.

The exchange market rules flat. Some bills were done this morning at 49⅜, but there are few drawers.

The Municipal bondholders are drawing up their liquidation in view of the impending payment in the new bonds. Several bondholders have decided to capitalize the interests of the overdue coupons, but it is rather questionable if the Municipality will pay any attention to these demands. The holders are very dissatisfied with the arbitrary price fixed on the bonds; although for the present 6 o/o Municipal bonds do not represent a market value of 90 o/o, all 6 o/o stocks may be yet quoted at par before long in this market. It is a mere question of time and of cheap money. The amortization of 8 o/o stocks will give a spurt to all other stocks bearing less interest.

Old Gas shares are quoted very firm at 1,500% each.

Advices from Hinojo, Venado Tuerto, state that camps are in a splendid condition, but rain is much wanted.

Mr. Casey's letter in to-day's issue was much commented on in the Bolsa. All agree with him that rents will continue rising. Rents have been steadily rising all along, due to the fresh impulse given to everything in this country by immigration, the advance of the 'chacarero,' and the starting of so many new estancias. Lawyers and escribanos are going into lands as deeply as brokers and dentists. Land is the back-bone of the country.

Advices from Bahia Blanca report a most prosperous state of affairs and a gigantic advance in every direction. The increase of cattle has been unusually large; the increase of Mr. Tornquist's large "rodeo" is no less than 30 o/o for the season. Emigrants are swarming to the town of Bahia Blanca, and the National Government intends building an Emigrants' Hotel without further delay. Labour is dear, owing to the scarcity of hands, and an unexampled activity is shown by the complete transformation of the old village. New houses are springing up like mushrooms, and the smoke of the brick-kilns hides the summit of the Ventana mountain.

Good news for the Boca! Warehouses will be erected along the embankment. A colleague announces this good news and connects it with the late visit of the President of the Republic to that locality.

Telegrams from London announce the opening of the public wool sales yesterday. Prices shew no change, and bidders are numerous. From 250 to 300,000 bales will be offered for sale.

Telegrams from Rio quote exchange on London at 21d. and sovereigns at 11:500 reis.

The sales at the ring were as follows:—

Cedulas—

For cash E 69,300 at 84½-85-84½
For Feb. 28th E 35,000 at 85

Good wools shew a slight rise since the beginning of the week, and very high prices are being paid in the South Plaza for superior qualities. Mr Jaenisch, the leading German exporter, bought yesterday 10,000 arrobes of wool. Arrivals continue heavy in the Plaza Constitution, whilst in the Once remittances from the camp are becoming very reduced. On the other hand it must be borne in mind that Remataremos a la mas alta postura y sin limitacion de ninguna clase, los mas afamados campos de la Provincia de Santa Fe conocidos por Loreto distantes unicamente 29 leguas de Pergamino, 6 de la colonia Irlonde, 10 de la colonia Alvear (La Teodolina) 13 de la Estacion Tortugas del Ferro Carril Central Argentino, 16 de la Cañada de Gomez. Estacion del mismo Ferro Carril y entre el Ferro Carril de Clark, el proyectado ramal del F. C. del O. desde el Pergamino al Rio 4° y el Oeste Santafesino. Estos campos lindan con los famosos y conocidos del Venado Tuerto y con estancias, como la de los Sres Ostendorp y Ca., Diego Alvear, heredero de Armstrong y otros.

Los campos que acaba de vender el Gobierno de la Provincia a 400,000$ estan mas distantes de la Capital que estos que ofrecemos en venta.

Ademas con la rapidez que se esten construyendo los Ferro Carriles y ramales en la Republica demuestran claramente que en un corto tiempo la poblacion va a estenderse extraordinariamente y entonces toda la propiedad rural tiene que triplicar en valor. de manera que cuando llegue a vencerse el ultimo plazo el comprador se encontrara con una propiedad valiosa.

La calidad del campo se garante igual al Venado Tuerto por lo tanto creemos inutil entrar en mayores descripciones sobre el terreno, sus pastos etc, ademas la persona que quiera ver y examinarlos puede toma la Galera que va del Pergamino al Hinojo ocurriendo por la pasage gratis al Sr D. Eduardo Casey Reconquista num. 30.

El campo sera dividido en lotes de 4 (media) legua teniendo el comprador el derecho de tomar cuatro leguas por el mismo precio.

Todos los lotes seran vendidos sin reserva de ninguna clase al mas alto postor y el pago se hara una cuarta parte al contado y el resto en cuatro anualidades con el 7 o|o de interes. Los planos de estos campos podran obtenerse del 20 del corriente Febrero en adelante ocurriendo a casa del Sr D. Eduardo Casey num. 30, o a nuestra casa Alsina 78.

BASE DE VENTA

78—ALSINA—78
El Lunes 12 de Marzo 1883
A las 2 de la tarde

Remataremos a la mas alta postura y dinero de contado, por orden terminante de su dueño, los campos arriba mencionados, situados en la Secciones III y IX de territorios Nacionales letras D. y C. numeros 11, 16 y 25.

El area total se compone de 10 leguas kilometricas, que pueden facilmente dividirse en 2 fracciones, una de 4 y la otra de 6 leguas y si los interesados los desean en lotes de dos leguas.

Esta seccion es una de la mas pobladas, debido a la bondad de sus pastos y calidad de sus tierras, adecuados para la cria del ganado vacuno y lanar.

Esta campo dista 3 leguas del pueblo General Acha, donde existen fuerzas Nacionales, y sabido es la importancia que tiene la inmediacion de un pueblo en estas alturas para que entremos aqui a demostrarlo.

Al costado mismo esta un Establecimiento, parte alambrado, del Sr. D Augusto Escandy, poblado por el señor Capdeville, con 2,500 vacas, 800 yeguas, y 3000 ovejas y los otros linderos son:

Augusto Escandy, Simon, Obligado, Hurtado y Martinez A. Meabe y otros.

Sin contar un numero crecido de nuevos pobladores que estan esperando que llueva para llevar las haciendas que tienen ya compradas.

Creemos por demas llamar la atencion de los interesados sobre la importancia que tendran estos campos una vez terminada la linea del Ferro Carril del Sud a Bahia Blanca.

Demostradas todas las ventajas solo nos queda decir que la base de ps. 30,000 $ por legua bajisima para la venta es sumamente baja, en vista de las recientes ventas que se han hecho de campos situados mucho mas afuera.

Los interesados pueden ocurrir a nuestra casa Alsina 78 para tomar mayores datos sobre estos campos.
